May 16, 2024

Greyfriars Project Management recently celebrated its expansion with the grand opening of their new, larger office in Norwich city centre. The event, held on April 19th, welcomed colleagues, friends, and clients to mark this exciting new chapter in the company's journey.

The move to the new Queens Road office signifies Greyfriars' impressive growth trajectory. Since its inception in 2018, the company has quadrupled in size and boasts an impressive client portfolio spanning the public, private, and charity sectors. Notably, they have successfully collaborated with big names like National Highways, the National Trust, and Norfolk County Council.

"It's brilliant to bring everyone together and mark the start of a new chapter in our company story! It seems like just yesterday that we moved to our previous offices, but having expanded to a team of 15, this move is much-needed!" says Jon Barnard, Director of Greyfriars Project Management.

The new office provides ample space to accommodate Greyfriars' growing staff and further strengthens their commitment to delivering top-tier project management services.

"The excellent support of the Greyfriars team has been instrumental to the business's success! This office move is part of our continued commitment to investing in our people. We've invested in a bigger space, as well as the equipment and infrastructure needed to support a growing team and provide everyone with the tools and training they need to do a fantastic job for our clients and the community!" adds Jon.

Greyfriars Project Management distinguishes itself by focusing solely on projects that deliver genuine value to the community. The new office's central location strategically positions them to deepen their engagement in community activities.

“The central location of our new office is perfectly situated to allow us to get even more involved in community-engagement activities. Plus, it means we’re easily accessible on foot and via public transport, which is not only good for staff and visitors, but kinder to the environment too” concludes Jon.

Greyfriars Project Management offers a wide range of independent, professional project management support services for various building, transport, and placemaking projects. Their success across the UK is attributed to their adaptable approach, tailoring services to meet each client’s specific needs.
