

KAP Project Services hailed as Digital Leader in Turnaround Management

May 10, 2024

KAP Project Services, a leader in technology-powered project controls, has been recognized by CruzAlta, a global specialist in improving operations for refineries and petrochemical companies. CruzAlta named KAP a trusted provider of digital transformation solutions for turnaround management.

KAP's innovative project controls, including their proprietary STologix platform, offer a comprehensive solution for turnarounds. This streamlines the process, cuts costs, and fosters creativity throughout the entire turnaround cycle.

This recognition marks a major step towards revamping industry standards and setting new benchmarks for turnaround efficiency.

"KAP is dedicated to propelling digital transformation in the turnaround industry through technology-driven solutions," said Scott Kammerer, CEO of KAP Project Services. "Being recognized by CruzAlta is a huge honor, and we hope it gives clients the confidence to choose KAP as their digital partner for transforming turnaround management."

"Integrated and cutting-edge digital solutions, like KAP's control capabilities, will be crucial for turnaround teams to usher in a new era of turnaround management," said Bobby Vichich, Managing Partner of CruzAlta. "By leveraging our extensive industry expertise and reputation, we aim to identify and showcase technology leaders and innovators. This will accelerate the digital transformation of turnaround events and generate lasting value for the entire industry."

This recognition signifies a significant step towards redefining industry standards and setting new benchmarks for turnaround efficiency. KAP Project Services, by harnessing the power of technology and collaboration, is positioned to lead the way in driving innovation and delivering superior results for clients.
